2.1 Data description

Statistics on book production show publications and editions of books in Denmark. The statistics are compiled for the reference year 2012 onwards of Denmark Statistics.

Statistics on book production shows releases and issues of books in Denmark in five tables. A book appear in the statistics of the year it is released. A book in this context means not only releases to the commercial market, but can also be written material published by public institutions, scientific reports, etc. that meet the criteria for inclusion in the Danish national bibliography.

The base for data is The Publication FAUST number, which is a unique number assigned to each volume and edition associated with The Publication registration in the Danish National bibliography. The statistics are not a statement of the number of published titles, but a statement of the number of publications.

Note that the table BOG02 is identical to BOG01, but covers all releases where BOG01 covers only the subset produced for commercial sale.

- BOG01 shows commercially published books distributed by subject, size, text and media. The table shows the releases that are for resale in the retail industry, including on the Internet.
- BOG02 shows all published book distributed by subject, size, text and media. The table shows both commercial and non-commercial books. Non-commercial books can be written material published by public institutions, scientific reports, etc.
- BOG03 shows book production divided by topic, original language, authoring language and media. The table shows the number of publications of translations from foreign to Danish.
- BOG04 shows school books and children's books distributed by topic, book type, version and media. School books will in this context means books published for primary and secondary schools.
- BOG05 indicates book titles distributed by topic, publication type, and media. By category "Danish editions" appears books that are published in the new edition of that year, but which are published in a previous year. Editions - regardless of the number - counts as only one entry. For table additional categories (annual publications and Foreign Commission).

2.4 Statistical concepts and definitions

Books: Physical book, publication of text printed on paper.

E-book online: publication of text available via the Internet. The agreement for registration of online e-books were signed between Danish Agency for Culture and DBC in the summer of 2011. Entries in the years 2007-2011 are thus not complete, but consists only of the titles that have been recorded by DBC, since the inception of the agreement.

E-book CD-ROM: texts published on CD-ROM (and earlier CDs and disks). Note that there is no registration of whether a CD-ROM is commercial. Therefore, the concept is not to be found in the table BOG01.

Multimedia, online: publications on the net that is composed of several types, such as text and images. Within this category the major part are games.

Multimedia, CD-ROM: publications on CD-ROM (and earlier CDs and floppy disks) that is composed of several types, such as text and images. Within this category are placed on games.

Editions: Circulation

'Edition' covers a reissue of a particular version without or with minor and insignificant changes.

'Annual publications' denotes periodicals, usually published once a year or less and is not a monograph series. A journal counted as annual publication, when the Danish serial list is registered as such.

'Foreign Commission' represents foreign books in commission in Denmark. However, these are only registered if the commission relationship is directly shown by the material.

Releases: 'Commercial releases' is used for physical books when a publication is counted as released commercially. The provision is based on the publisher information that their releases are for commercial sale. Each publisher can additionally for a single release state whether it is for commercial sale or not. It is clear from the list of publishing addresses <http://www.isbn.dk/doc/forlagsadresser.pdf>, where a black dot means that the publisher's titles are commercial, i.e., the title alone or simultaneously is offered for resale at retail.

'Commercial releases' covering material available on the Internet, is a little more complicated to define compared to physical books. Included are publications in which the registration is apparent that the publication is for sale. Such notes are mandatory for the registration of net publications.

Type of book: Children's Book' includes the releases by DBC's cataloging has been given a code (in field 008, subfield o) for intended for children.

School books includes releases by DBC's cataloging has been given a code (in field 008, subfield o) for intended for school use. This code includes materials for students at all levels to the upper secondary level. The code corresponds to the UNESCO category "materials for students who receive instruction on the 1st and 2nd level".
